Organizations donate funds for area CAT scan machine

The 'Back the CAT' effort got a significant boost on Monday night when local service clubs and other groups handed over cheques totalling $13,250 to officials of the Peterborough-based campaign.

CAT stands for computerized assisted tomography, a sophisticated process which combines x-ray technology with sensors linked to a computer. The device enables doctors to see cross-sections of the body and identify abnormalities, including tumours as small as three millimetres in size.

Approximately 75 people braved a snowstorm to attend the meeting, organized by Jack MacDonald and Mabel Brannigan on behalf of the Haliburton Legion.

Following a slide presentation and explanation of the benefits of a CAT scanner, campaign chairman Vic Henderson was presented with a number of cheques. Haliburton Rotary Club president Paul Wilson presented $5000 on behalf of the club. Legion president Bruce McKay handed over $3000. Paul Sisson, president of the Minden Rotary Club, provided a cheque for $2000 on his club's behalf. Other presenters included John Consack, $1500 from the Loyal Orange Lodge of Haliburton; Irene Higgins, $750 from the Legion Ladies Auxiliary; Jack Bassett, $500 from the Haliburton senior citizens club; and Aileen Robertson, $500 on behalf of the United Church Women.

Added to earlier contributions of $1000 from the Haliburton Hospital Auxiliary and $500 from the Eagle Lake women, the total contribution from local organizations to the Back the CAT campaign now stands at $14,750.

In addition, a number of individuals also have donated to the campaign, which hopes to raise $1.8 million by May 1, 1985.

The CAT scanner will be installed at Peterborough Civic Hospital. It will serve nine hospitals as well as private practitioners in the Haliburton, Hastings, Peterborough and Victoria County region. The provincial Ministry of Health will provide funds to meet operating costs of the machine, but the initial purchase price of $1.25 million as well as installation costs, must be met with private funding, Henderson told the meeting.

To date, the campaign has raised $850,000, and Henderson said organizers are confident the objective of $1.8 million will be reached by next spring.

"We're just astounded at what's been happening," Henderson said. "People are coming from everywhere" to hear about the CAT scanner and support the fundraising effort, he said. "This is a people campaign".

Also on hand to explain the benefits of the CAT scanner and answer questions about it were campaign coordinator Jerry Peters, vice chairman Helen Wilcox, and Wally Hicks, chief radiological technician at Peterborough Civic.

Cardiff rescinds motions

Councillors charged with conflict leave meeting

Cardiff Township council has rescinded three resolutions which authorized the use of township funds to maintain the Eel's Lake and Topps Roads, neither of which is owned by the municipality.

The original resolutions sparked a controversy which led an area cottagers association to lay conflict of interest charges against two of the three councillors who advocated township maintenance of the roads.

Councillors John Irwin and Paul Slighte withdrew from the special meeting last Friday at which the resolutions were rescinded. Both men read identical statements which said they were withdrawing from "further participation in the matter" since conflict of interest had been alleged and the matter has not been adjudicated at this time.

The statement said they would not take part in discussions on the earlier resolutions, vote on any subsequent resolutions "arising therefrom", or "attempt to influence any other member of council".

Once Irwin and Slighte had left the council chamber, Reeve Mac Peters, Deputy Reeve Ross Duncan and councillor Debbie Donaldson conferred with the township's lawyer, and later rescinded three resolutions which dealt with the Eel's Lake forest access road, the Topps Road, and a parking lot on the Eel's Lake road.

Conflict of interest charges were brought against Irwin and Slighte late last month by Bill Davis on behalf of the Paudash Lake Conservation Association, which objected to a plan to spend tax money to bring the two roads up to municipal standards.

Both Irwin and Slighte own property on the Eel's Lake road, which is under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The charges are scheduled to be heard in court on December 21.

Meeting fails to get consensus in dispute over sponsorship

Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Glynne Lewis will continue to press for county council sponsorship of the Children's Services Case Coordination program despite an attempt to resolve the issue.

Lewis and county Warden Lyle McKnight met with members of the case coordination advisory committee in Haliburton last Thursday to discuss criticisms the Lutterworth deputy reeve levelled against the committee following the resignation of coordinator Mike Wood.

Lewis earlier told county council that the resignation was the result of the board of education's attitude toward the coordinator, but that claim was disputed by committee members at last Thursday's meeting.

Director of Education Stuart Baker, described the coordination program advisory committee, consisting of three trustees and three members of the public, as "a group of people who were given a job to do and they have done it to the satisfaction of the Ministry of Community and Social Services".

Baker said the committee "does not deserve" the comments which Lewis made at county council November 21. He said the matter should have been brought up with the local children's services advisory board rather than at council, and asked Lewis why he had not done so. Lewis responded that as county council's representative for children's services, he had a responsibility to inform councillors about the coordinator's resignation and what he saw as the reasons for it. He said the advisory board did not meet in the time between the coordinator's resignation and county council's November session.

The Lutterworth deputy reeve has maintained that the board of education should act only as the banker for the case coordination program, passing on funds provided by the Ministry of Community and Social Services (COMSOC). But the advisory committee has adopted a different stance, negotiating salary increases and a salary grid with the coordinator, and obtaining comsoc approval for the agreement.

Baker said the original agreement between Comsoc and the Haliburton County Local Advisory Board on Children's Services on the case coordination program gave the advisory committee the authority to monitor the funds provided by the ministry.

Baker said the coordinator was hired March 21, 1983 and agreed on a salary at that time. Ten days later the Ministry of Community and Social Services approved a five per cent salary increase for its employees, but that increase was not passed on to the coordinator until September 21, after a six-month probationary period. On April 1 of this year, a further five per cent increase for the coordinator was approved by the advisory committee and a five-year salary grid was planned. The grid subsequently was approved by COMSOC. The coordinator's next salary increase would come on April 1, 1985 under the grid.

Other changes made when the grid was set up included a provision for three weeks of holidays, premium assistance on car insurance and a number of other benefits similar to those available to employees of the board of education.

While the coordinator's letter of Board, secondary teachers stalled, to seek mediation

A mediator will be appointed to try to break a deadlock between the Haliburton County Board of Education and its secondary school teachers.

The two sides have failed to reach agreement on a contract for the current school year. Negotiations, which began last spring, are "at a total impasse" according to Cheryl Murdoch, chairman of the board's salary committee.

Murdoch told the board last Tuesday that the committee is "waiting to hear" from the provincial Education Relations Committee, who will choose the mediator.

Later, in an interview, Murdoch said she is "not optimistic" that a mediator can be appointed soon, because more than 50 boards of education around the province have failed to reach agreements with teachers and have asked for mediation.

When a mediator is appointed, he or she will meet with both sides on neutral ground in an attempt to get an agreement.

A mediator was used with success about four years ago in contract talks between the board and the secondary school teachers.

If a settlement cannot be reached through mediation, a fact finder appointed by the Education Relations Committee will review negotiations.

Subsequent steps could be binding arbitration or a work stoppage. The board reached a contract agreement with public school teachers earlier this year.

An Ontario Home Renewal Application in the amount of $2,870.00 was approved.

These Haliburton high school students got some information on jobs in Canada's armed forces during a job fair last Thursday. The event was part of career week at the school, and it gave students a chance to talk over various job possibilities with 35 participants from many fields.

Esson Lake cottagers form association

Property owners on the north shore of Esson Lake have formed a cottagers association to tackle matters of common concern. While the access road to individual properties was the prime concern, newly elected president Jack Weller of Oshawa said fire safety, security and integration with the year-round community also were extremely important.

The group is naming itself "The Rowbotham Cottagers Association" in honor of a family who pioneered the area. All the lots were purchased from Joe Rowbotham who permitted the association to adopt his family name.

"Some of us have been coming here for almost 20 years," said Weller, "and during that period the friendship amongst the cottagers and the Rowbotham family has been a big factor in making our life in Haliburton enjoyable".

Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman addressed the organizational meeting and promised the cooperation of the municipality in helping the association get established.

"We are not banding together because of dissatisfaction with the township," said Ted Morris of Montreal. "Over the past two decades the elected officials and the professional staff have been both approachable and cooperative. We just feel that it is better to present our needs as a group instead of having many minor requests going into council".

Many of the cottagers have occupations that could benefit all residents of the area. Jack Brough of Oshawa is a professional firefighter and was named to the fire safety and security committee. Other committees include the road care committee under Charles Bowles of Toronto, the winter plowing and access committee, a social committee and a ways and means committee.

President of the new organization is Jack Weller of Oshawa. Gail Driscoll of Toronto is the secretary and George Carlen of Tory Hill (Essonville) is treasurer.

First aid taught

All school bus drivers in Haliburton County will have basic first aid training by early next year.

The training became mandatory last fall under changes the board made to its transportation policy.

A total of 20 drivers currently are enrolled in a three-session course which began November 26 and will end December 12. The remaining drivers will be offered the same course in the new year.

Glamorgan council

A regular meeting of the Glamorgan Township Council was held in Council Chambers on Wednesday, November 7, 1984 at 7:00 p.m.

By-law 84-20 and 84-21, to restrict the weight of vehicles passing over bridges were passed.

Petition will be made to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for payment of interim subsidy on 1984 road expenditures to October 31, 1984.

In addition to out-of-pocket costs, legal fees and survey fees, an administration fee of $50 shall apply to all road closing by-law proceedings to cover staff time and incidentals, council decided.

Application will be made of a Canada Works Program for three persons for 26 weeks commencing April 1, 1985, and Larry Hunter will sign on behalf of council.

A total of $4,000 was withdrawn from the Recreation Committee Reserve for Working Funds for 1984 expenditures as budgeted.

Authority was granted to renew the treasury account agreement with the Bank of Montreal.

The treasurer was authorized to pay the account of Bishop and Wilson Ltd. in the amount of $500 with respect to the survey of Part Lot 27, Concession 5.

Bicroft council

Bicroft Township council met November 22 and considered the following matters:

Payroll, general welfare assistance and general account of $19,336.89 were passed for payment.

A resolution stating that the rate for the Community Centre be left as is was defeated.

The Community Centre rental fee for New Year's Eve, 1984, will be reduced to $100 pursuant to a request by Andrew P. Gray. All profits will be donated to Bicroft Township.

The sum of $100 was donated to Telecare Bank.

George Palmer was refused permission to pile wood on Lot 47, Plan 368.

Council endorsed the concerns expressed by the Ontario Good Roads Association respecting the inadequacy of the funds made available by the government of Ontario for municipal road subsidy as expressed in their brief to the Ontario Cabinet Committee on Resources Development dated November 1, 1984 and a copy of this resolution will be forwarded to the Treasurer of Ontario, the Secretary to the Ontario Cabinet and the Minister of Transportation and Communications.

The sum of $100 was donated to the North Hastings Disaster Trust Fund.

District association winds up busy year

Provincial official outlines grants

The Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded concluded what president Lynda Easton described as "a busy and productive year" last Friday with an annual meeting at the PineStone Inn.

On hand for the occasion, along with members of the association, were several of the people accommodated at the association's Haliburton residence, as well as representatives of other local children's and social service agencies.

The goal of the association, Easton told the meeting, is to help the mentally handicapped live in a state of dignity, share in the community, and participate in community activities. Its principal projects are the Haliburton residence and the ARC Industries workshop but new programs also are underway, Easton told the meeting. Last summer the association sponsored a summer day camp for developmentally handicapped youngsters, and it also obtained funding for a special needs at home program which helped four multiple handicapped youngsters.

Earlier this fall, the association sponsored a talk by Fran Armstrong, author of the book 'Jeremiah', about a child with multiple handicaps. It also operated a booth at the Kinsmen Home Show in June and has opened a store on Haliburton's main street for the Christmas season selling wood products made by ARC Industries workers.

Another new project being carried out under association sponsorship is a lifeskills program taught at the Haliburton residence under director Don Lethbridge and other professionals in the community. It began in September and has been very successful, Lethbridge said in his report to the meeting.

Future programs under consideration by the association include a supported independent living program which would allow some mentally handicapped people to live in their own apartments with the help and guidance of association staff and volunteers.

Guest speaker Art Daniels, assistant deputy minister for the provincial Ministry of Community and Social Services, outlined the expansion of ministry programs for the developmentally handicapped in recent years, and urged local groups to seek available funding.

The evening concluded with an informal question period and refreshments.

resignation did not spell out the reasons for his decision, Baker admitted at the meeting that the five per cent allowed on April 1, 1983 but not passed on to the coordinator until six months later might be a factor.

"You can say he is five per cent behind, or that the program is five per cent ahead for six months," Baker said. But he noted that the advisory committee did not feel a five per cent increase was justified after 10 days of employment. He said the coordinator did not ask for the additional five per cent until September of this year.

Both Lewis and the committee expressed regret at the resignation, noting that Wood has done a good job for the children of the county.

Board chairman Bonnie Lee Berry said the advisory committee has advertised for a replacement, and no interruption in service is anticipated, since Wood's resignation does not become effective until January 1. A total of 62 applications were received for the original position, Berry said, and any one of six people who made the short list for interviews had the necessary qualifications.

Marion Tallman, a member of the advisory committee, expressed concern that county council might not be appropriate sponsors for the case coordination program, since unlike the board of education, county council does not have a special interest in children.

But Lewis responded that in Peterborough, the program is administered by the Children's Services Advisory Group who pass on funds provided by COMSOC.

He said he did not feel a special interest in children was an important criterion for the agency that acts as banker for the program.

The Lutterworth deputy reeve indicated he intends to pursue the change in sponsorship in discussions with the ministry.

The Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton is decorated for the holiday season and has displayed a selection of craft items made by Guild members. The annual Christmas sale is an important fund-raising vehicle for the Guild, and gives local residents a chance to purchase hand-made items for gift-giving.

Dorset parents to meet board

Dorset area parents will get at least one more chance to tell the Haliburton County Board of Education why the public school in the community should not be closed.

The board's special projects committee will meet with Dorset parents on January 8 to discuss the issue.

Currently the Dorset school serves 20 students in Kindergarten to Grade 4 classes with two teachers. A number of the students are residents of Muskoka, whose board pays fees to the Haliburton County board.

Residents of Dorset were notified earlier that the school could be a candidate for closure at the end of the 1984-85 school year. It is the second time the school has been named for possible closure.

On the first occasion, three years ago, parents managed to convince the board the school should remain open.

A citizens' committee is expected to make a formal presentation to the special projects committee at the January meeting. If the school is closed, students would be bussed to Irwin Memorial School in Dwight.

PC's choose delegates for convention

A crowd of close to 250 Progressive Conservatives turned out at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton Friday night for the annual meeting of the Haliburton-Victoria Provincial Progressive Conservative Association. Purpose of the meeting was two-fold, as members were given the opportunity of electing delegates and alternates to represent the riding at the Ontario Leadership Convention to be held in Toronto on January 24, 25 and 26.

Addressing the subject of delegates to the convention, guest speaker the Honourable Bud Gregory, Minister of Revenue in the Ontario government, reminded those present of the honour that goes with being selected as a delegate or an alternate to the convention. He stressed what he saw as the importance of putting a Progressive Conservative member for Victoria-Haliburton in the Ontario Legislature. Gregory said delegates selecting a new leader should keep in mind the qualities of past leaders.

Lorne Chester of Lindsay was chosen as the president of the association for the coming year.

First vice president is Liz Webster of Fenelon Falls with second vice-president - Ross Radway, Brechin; secretary, Ruth Ann Matthews of Fenelon Falls and treasurer David Bishop of Haliburton.

The following is a list of the delegates and alternates to the Ontario Leadership Convention as chosen by the members at this meeting:

Men delegates: Lorne Chester, Lindsay; Art Ward, Haliburton; Fred Reynolds, Bobcaygeon; Joe Iles, Haliburton.

Alternates: Carl Hickson, Lindsay; Larry McKnight, Minden; Sinc Nesbitt, Minden; Mac Gadoway, Harcourt.

Women's delegates: Jane Johnston, Haliburton; Shirley Hodgson, Haliburton; Liz Webster, Fenelon

Falls; Ruth Ann Matthews, Fenelon Falls.

Alternates: Nancy Stinson, Haliburton; Brenda O'Keefe, Lindsay; Margo Fawcett, Little Britain; Marlene Shortreed, Dorset.

Young Progressive Conservative delegates: Brenda Reed, Fenelon Falls; Brent Devolin, Haliburton. Alternates: Laurie McKnight, Minden; Steven Dawson, Haliburton.

Trustees raise board chairman's pay

Former chairman says $400 a month doesn't begin to pay for the time

The chairman of the Haliburton County Board of Education got a 33 per cent raise last Tuesday night, but trustees who approved the increase feel the money does not begin to compensate for the time the person must spend on board business.

The chairman's position will now carry a monthly stipend of $400, an increase of $100 a month.

Lutterworth trustee, Cheryl Murdoch, a former chairman of the board, proposed the increase as trustees held their final meeting under the leadership of 1984 chairman Bonnie Lee Berry.

Under present Ministry of Education regulations, school board trustees have the right to decide how much they will pay themselves. Previously, the province enforced maximum pay scales based on enrolment in the schools under a board's jurisdiction. Chairmen could be granted additional compensation not exceeding on half the amount paid to trustees.

The 15 elected members of the Haliburton County Board of Education decided not to increase their present stipend of $200 a month for 1985, but supported Murdoch's comment that the chairman should get double the pay of trustees.

A new chairman of the board will be chosen by trustees later this month.

Questions

The controversy which has flared up over the sponsorship of the children's services case coordination program is an unfortunate one for at least two reasons. Firstly, and perhaps most importantly, it has made a public issue out of an essentially private matter - the coordinator's decision to resign. Secondly, it has resulted in criticisms being levelled at the six-member case coordination program advisory committee who are community-minded volunteers acting in good faith and making decisions that they believe are sound.

Despite these complications, however, the issue deserved the public airing because the benefits of the case coordination program are a community matter and it is funded with provincial tax dollars.

So far, neither the advisory committee nor its principal critic, Lutterworth Deputy Reeve Glynne Lewis, appears to have touched on the heart of the matter which is simply this: is the present supervisory structure an unworkable one?

As chairman of the Peterborough-based advisory group of children's services - the group which supported local plans for the coordination program - Lewis is in a position to know what he is talking about when he criticizes the way the local program has been administered. He says he opposed the choice of the board of education as program sponsor from the outset.

Under the present structure, the provincial Ministry of Community and Social Services provides funds for the case coordination program, with the board of education administering the funds. The program itself is administered by an advisory committee consisting of three school board trustees and three local citizens who are also members of the Haliburton County Local Advisory Board on Children's Services.

Lewis has said he believes the coordinator has been treated as if he were an employee of the board of education rather than an employee of the social services ministry. For its part, the committee has followed the board's chosen stance of restraining wage increases on annual contracts, although a recent settlement between the board and CUPE workers has caused some local officials to question the board's view of restraint.

What has yet to be resolved is whether or not the supervisory structure provides too many bosses and too many conflicting demands on the coordinator. It is also unclear whether or not the advisory committee should worry only about program and let the province worry about pay scales for the coordinator.

These matters must be resolved before a new coordinator is hired, or the program may continue to generate controversy.

Generosity

Anyone in Haliburton County who doubts that he lives in a caring and committed community would have had those doubts dispelled Monday night if he had attended a meeting at the Haliburton Legion. In a matter of moments, organizers of a fund-raising campaign to buy a CAT scanner for Peterborough Civic Hospital were handed cheques worth more than $13,000. The biggest single contribution came from the Haliburton Rotary Club, but other clubs also dug deeply, including the Legion itself, Minden Rotary, the Loyal Orange Lodge, the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, the Haliburton Hospital Auxiliary, the United Church Women, the Eagle Lake Women, and the Haliburton senior citizens club.

Together, these organizations have demonstrated the generosity of Haliburton County residents and their willingness to support worthwhile projects.

Letters to the Editor

Readers answer critic of 'Feir Play'

To the Editor:

In the November 28 edition of your paper, I was dismayed to read Mr. G. B. Allan's criticism of Creighton Feir's column "Feir Play". My first reaction is that his letter is neither constructive nor positive. If he had really wanted to improve Mr. Feir's column, he could have written his suggestions in a personal letter. I detect from the general tone of the letter that Mr. Allan was mainly interested in a personal attack on Creighton Feir, especially when he questions his education and other personal characteristics.

Mr. Allan is probably not aware of the history of The Haliburton County Echo and Minden Recorder. I would like to point out to him that Creighton Feir, his father Berkley Feir, and his late mother have been instrumental in our county's having a newspaper for nearly 40 years. During those years they received little remuneration for the number of hours they put in to provide us with this service and, as was stated by Mr. Allan, every community is fortunate to have a weekly paper.

I make no apology for Creighton Feir's column "Feir Play". His column each week is his way of communicating to us some of the happenings in our county and he has concentrated on the good things that are taking place and has never lowered himself to character assassination or malice. Creighton Feir's contribution to our community, both in business and in personal ways, has been great and has not just been something for the moment -- it has been over a lifetime. There has been nothing in his writing or his life that deserves Mr. Allan's kind of comment. Creighton Feir is representative of Haliburton County and speaks to us in our idiom.

Since Mr. Allan has raised the subject, I am not overly impressed with the quality of writing in his letter. He complains about Creighton Feir's "endless clichés". I would point out to Mr. Allan in his short letter his use of "to influence teenage readers on the way up". Has he chosen these young people to be astronauts? Also, his use of "I'm having a ball as a free lancer" is another hackneyed expression.

Finally, Mr. Editor, I would not waste any of your time in altering or correcting the column "Feir Play"; it is read and appreciated by most of the citizens who buy your paper. However, I would spend some time with your lawyer and check into the copyright laws of this country because I think, when Mr. Allan and his cohorts are photocopying parts of your paper without your permission, they are either lawbreakers or breaking the spirit of the law.

Yours truly,
J. Douglas Hodgson,

To the Editor:

FOUL!!! (or is it FOWL!!!) - Fie on G. B. Allan of Toronto for his swipe at Haliburton's favourite columnist? (Letters to the Editor, November 28).

He should have retired 30 years ago, if he and his unfortunate students had nothing better to do. Fortunately, he's not typical of your average Haliburton County English teacher - leastways, not the few I call my friends.

Taking engineering at U. of T. during the fifties meant that my most intensive English studies were done on the immortal Walt Kelly's Pogo stories and as Pogo always said, Creighton, "That don't make no never mind!"

Also, during this same era, Red Skelton was constantly reminding us that, "Everyone knows the Queen's English!"

Correst this one, G.B.I.

To the Editor:

I feel compelled to respond to G. B. Allan's letter to the editor (November 28/84 edition). Although the writer explains that he has spent half of his life in small towns, there is one ingredient that is seriously lacking in his assessment of life in small towns.

Sentence structure and correct English grammar are important, however concern and caring for neighbours, locally and world-wide, supercede

We have mentioned on several occasions that if we hope to have an all year round economy in the Highlands of Haliburton, a good start toward this goal would be to promote winter business. There seems to be some good signs of progress being made in this particular area which in my opinion is a step in the right direction. Before there is great advancement, some changes will have to be made. First of all we must have the snow and secondly we must have the accommodation. We understand that many people who are coming back find that on certain weekends, the Highlands are lacking in accommodation. Someone remarked the other day that we need double the accommodation that we have now.

Just recently the Rev. Wes Oake, formerly of the Minden Pastoral Charge of the United Church of Canada, was at the Haliburton United Church for a special three-day preaching event. There was a good attendance at all three services and many people who attended were helped in one way or the other through his preaching. Wes has served pastorates in Springdale, Newfoundland; Minden-Carnarvon; Maple Lake Pastoral Charge; Trinity Church, Bowmanville; King Street Church, London; and presently Victoria Harbour, Ontario. He has also been involved with the Masonic Lodge, the Mission Services of London, The Men's Mission, and the Juvenile Detention Centre in London. We look forward to his return visit in the not too distant future.

You never miss the honey until the bees are gone - so goes the story. This certainly applies with Wednesday night hockey games on television. Now that the rights to televise the mid-week contests have gone to an independent station that doesn't get its signal this far, many hockey fans have been mentioning the fact that they miss the mid-week game. Well, we cannot blame the Hamilton television station that won the rights to broadcast the games because they bid the most money. We cannot even blame CTV who had been running the games up until 1978. Where was the CBC though? That is Canada's national network, owned by the people. Why couldn't they have put in a bid for the game. Not everyone watches hockey games, but we would bet that they draw a big share of the watching market. Our only hope of getting these Wednesday night games, especially for those who are fortunate enough to be on cable, will come if Haliburton CATV are awarded a licence to bring in an American channel along with CHCH TV in Hamilton. Then and only then will we have any chance of seeing Wednesday night hockey.

Joan Lee and Alice Johnson from the Five Counties Centre were guest speakers at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. Both ladies had spent the day in the county touring our schools and resorts. They gave an informative talk about the future of the Five Counties Centre as well as an interesting description of the work going on there now.

Every year a business person, not by tradition but by necessity, has to take time out to take stock, or in other terms inventory. This is what we as individuals should be doing. We should stop every now and again and take stock of ourselves. In other words, we should glance into the mirror and see where we are at the present moment and if we have an idea of where we are going. We must also ask ourselves the question "is our community a better place in which to live because we are part of it?" The point that we are trying to make is - are we a part of the community or do we just live here? Are we really making an effort to play a part in our community by belonging to organizations and by supporting worthy causes? We must remember that a community is just as good as the people who reside there.

A group of men from the Lochlin United Church met about a year or so ago and formed a group known as The Sour Notes. They have been a hit with audiences wherever they have performed with their nostalgic music and humorous comedy. The group is again in full swing this fall and are already booked for several engagements. They sang at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home in Minden in July and at Extensicare at Haliburton in September. They also entertained a group of seniors at Deer Lodge and we understand that they have a request for a return engagement there. Two new members have just recently joined the group. One is George Smith, who brings a violin to their jug band and Don Sinclair, a great bass voice. Both hail from Ingoldsby.

Haliburton Forest, a three-year old filly owned by Don Finn and Gary Vasey, won the $55,950 Jammed Lovely Stakes at Greenwood recently, bringing its career earnings to $131,176.

It was the horse's sixth victory in 27 starts. Jockey Robbie King brought Haliburton Forest over the seven furlong distance in 1:27 and fourth fifths, holding old second place Futurette and leaving the 3 - 2 favourite, Summer Mood, in fourth place.

Haliburton's Forest's first place share of the purse was $33,750.

The horse was purchased for $37,000 at the 1982 Woodbine yearling sale.

When Col. Sam Hughes, who was the Federal member for Victoria-Haliburton riding, paid a visit to Wilberforce in 1915 everyone turned out to get a glimpse of the popular Minister of Defence during World War I. Col. Hughes arrived at Wilberforce by train and he had his own coach.

He was picked up at the station in the car shown here in the photo which was owned by George Earle, who at that time was storekeeper and station master. Later on he opened his store in Haliburton, now known as Black's Home Hardware. Col. Hughes is shown in the front seat of the car next to the old Orange Hall. He was on a recruiting mission at the time for the 109th battalion which was stationed at Haliburton with platoons at Minden, Kinmount and Gooderham. Our thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Reg Schofield of Wilberforce, Ontario for giving us permission to use this photo.

I found G. B. Allan's "smart-alec" (cliche?) letter extremely tasteless and unnecessary. We have had a few teachers (?) like him/her pass through our community but fortunately they did not stay long.

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Mr. G. B. Allan's view of Mr. Creighton Feir's column, Feir Play. I feel that Mr. G. B. Allan had no right to criticize the fine job that Mr. Feir has been doing over all the years he has had a column in the "weekly" as Mr. G. B. Allan put it. I know for a fact that all the people who have read Mr. Feir's column every week would say that Mr. G. B. Allan's letter was not called for. I also feel that if Mr. G. B. Allan has any trace of being a decent human being he would apologize greatly to Mr. Feir.

I have known Mr. Feir for a very long time now and I know for a fact that I and many other people would say that there is no other person who could fill Mr. Feir's job the way he can. I also know that if this was face to face, I and other people would have strong words to say to Mr. G. B. Allan but since this is being written for publication I or anyone else cannot say them.

If Mr. G. B. Allan is so perfect in his way can he walk on water and if he can he is therefore perfect in every way and then he does have the right to criticize another human being.

Chris Coumbs,
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to the letter in last week's paper from G. B. Allan, wherein he or she criticized Creighton Feir's English.

The Haliburton Echo is a small town newspaper. Maybe it is laughed at by the Big City Folk who hasten every weekend to their cottages in the Haliburton Highlands. But, for any of those who criticize it there are many who look forward to reading this newsy hometown newspaper. Perhaps it or any of its writers are not perfect -- few of us are, but at least it tries.

Mr. Feir is a life-time resident of our community and has worked hard through the years in many efforts to better it. Maybe we haven't all been lucky enough to finish high school or go to university and master the "Queen's English", but does this make us any less of a person than one who has had this education? I think not.

If G. B. Allan is so interested in picking apart one person's grammar why would he or she not get a subscription to the local paper rather than, I quote "get a friend to cut the column out for me which I photocopied for my English students to correct".

As a retired person having a ball as a free lancer, there must be other ways to enjoy yourself than writing a "Letter to the Editor" criticizing and degrading another fellow human being in his hometown.

In closing, I apologize for any grammatical errors I may have made as I would not like to have my letter chopped to pieces by one of G. B. Allan's staff. But then again, if it would help someone master the "Queen's English", be my guest.

Betty O. Hodgson,
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

I read with much interest G. B. Allan's letter to you concerning the misuse of English grammar by Echo's columnist Creighton Feir. Isn't it easy to shoot arrows?

G.B.A. is quite correct; but in the 15 years I've spent as resident in the Highlands I have noticed the same comments apply to a good many of the influx residents -- people who were educated far from this county. Certainly, it makes one shudder, but I believe it best to listen or read and mentally correct rather than snobbishly expose.

As a matter of fact if one feels so intense about the use of grammar as obviously as Allan does, it would be well to the point of contacting many of the radio and T.V. stations whose "puffed up" "self-styled" stars continually make the most blatant howlers and yet continually remain employed. The grammar used in the commercials! Thank Heavens I won't be around for another 50 years -- I couldn't stand it, nor they me I suppose.

Hurrah for Creighton being such a good sport to allow Allan's letter to be published. Creighton is one of my kind of guys and has guts.

Sincerely,
Dal Hubbert
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

Having read Mr. G. B. Allan's letter to the editor, I am fortunate that my children graduated from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School where the ridicule and exploitation, to which Mr. Allan publicly admits, were never tolerated.

Mr. Feir presents us with a broad aspect of current events. It is impossible to read his column without realizing that Mr. Feir is a man dedicated to his work with feelings of compassion, loyalty and honesty toward his readers. These attributes, totally devoid in Mr. Allan's letter, are the basis of successful newspaper reporting.

Mr. Allan has made three obvious errors in sentence construction in the first part of his letter; thus, like us, neither is he infallible.

I am glad we have Mr. Feir and other correspondents serving our weekly newspaper reading. There isn't the need, nor the desire, to have Mr. Allan's style in our weekly, and as far as I am concerned, he can go dangle his participle.

Sincerely,
Mable D. Brannigan,

To the Editor:

I feel compelled to comment on the letter written by G. B. Allan of Toronto which appeared in the November 28 issue of the Echo. As a teacher, I would grade Allan's letter as follows: Tact: F; Compassion: F; Professionalism: F.

To hold another person up to ridicule as he/she has done is a betrayal of professional standards. Enough anonymous examples exist to keep any grammar teacher supplied with all the exercises he or she will ever need. Allan's diatribe serves neither the cause of grammar nor the professional image of teachers, active or retired.

Yours truly,
A. Freer,

More letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I hasten to take pen in hand and rise in support of the writings of Creighton B. Feir. Needless to say I enjoy his column and look forward to the Echo each week.

To put it mildly, I was somewhat annoyed by G. B. Allan's letter to the editor last week. This person does little to enhance the public image of our high school teachers. He/she comes across as a person of little class or tact, and who delights in the pastime of taking "Cheap shots" at fellow human beings.

G. B. Allan is, undoubtedly, ignorant, and unaware, of the successful professional business courses on the market today, which specialize in speed writing and reading. The prime objective in speed writing is to communicate effectively -- and to get the message across with the minimum use of words. "Write it as you would say it" is common practise in the business world today, and Creighton Feir is one of many who use this writing technique to a very successful degree.

In the opinion of G. B. Allan: Quote "regardless of the size of the community, the editor has an obligation to ensure that the editorial pages conform to the good rules of the Queen's English" -- Balderdash!!

As a rebuttal, I submit the key objective of a good newspaper editor is to ensure that writers and reporters tell their stories in an interesting and eye-catching manner, to use words easy to understand, and most importantly get the message across with a minimum use of words. -- If the good rules of the Queen's English are slightly fractured in the process -- so what!

In conclusion, I sincerely hope the view, opinions and manners of ex-teacher, G. B. Allan, are not typical of the English teachings, and teachers, in our high school system today. If they are, then we will continue to receive high school grads, at the university level, ill-prepared to communicate effectively in report writing, business letters, etc. Oh yes, most of them will be well schooled in proper grammar, and in the good rules of the English language. -- Unfortunately, too high a percentage of them will have a limited vocabulary range, their spelling will be atrocious, and they will exhibit a complete lack in the technique of putting words together for effective communications.

Thank you, G. B. Allan, for providing me with the incentive to write this letter -- to make a point or two -- and to let off some steam. To Creighton Feir, whoever you are -- please keep your banner proudly flying.

Most sincerely,
A. G. McLeod,
Toronto, Ontario

To the Editor:

In recent weeks two letters have been published in the Echo which would appear to need some public comment. One written by Mr. Leslie Roberts should perhaps be dealt with first.

The scurrilous attack on the "Haliburton Public Library" can only have been made by one who has had little occasion to make use of it. Does Mr. Roberts know where he was? We have in this county a Dysart Public Library and a Haliburton County Library. Let us assume that Mr. Roberts knows that he is in Dysart Township. So let us also accept his presumption that book publishers continue to publish important books regardless of the demand. If Mr. Roberts had any idea of the printing and publishing business he would realize that it would be impossible to continue to print books without regard for age or for a demand that was not evident. Perhaps he should make known to the public, through The Echo, titles, authors and first publishing dates of the books so unfeelingly denied by the unreformed, inaccessible County Library system. Then we can make sure that the library system supplies us only with books that transcend special interests.

I hope someday to meet Mr. Roberts in the Dysart Library as it has been my misfortune to have always been absent when he was present.

Now for "G. B. Allan", ex-school teacher, literary critic and writer of a scathing attack on one of our happier newspapermen. I do not know what G. B. Allan is so I will treat it as male for the sake of convenience. Yes, "G. B.", you are quite correct. Mr. Feir makes mistakes at times but we like him as he is. If he used many long words and too much fancy punctuation we would wonder what he climbed into his head. Criticize him all you want but keep it to yourself in your warren. Incidentally, "G. B.", do you really, truly know how long half your life has been without dying first? How Godlike! I hope the state of your letter in the Echo of November 28, 1984 is the result of typographical errors and is not a true reflection of what you actually put on paper. Also, as with Mr. Roberts, perhaps you could write again to the Echo and outline some of the bad rules of the Queen's English having invented them by referring to the "good rules".

And to both of you, Mr. Roberts and "G. B.", remember that your attitude towards your fellow men is a reflection of yourselves. Next time you take pencil to paper and write a letter to the Editor try and remember that your inmost feelings are likely to be revealed to an already disgusted public.

To the Editor:

Haliburton C.G.I.T. is a group of teenage girls, from different churches and some with no affiliation, working, playing and praying together. Last night, I attended their Vesper Service in Haliburton United Church. The girls and their leaders are to be commended for a very moving service.

As I listened to the service I thought of the birth of Jesus, and realized that no matter what we believe this birth had a profound effect on mankind. Down through the years Christ's message rights clear and strong: "Love Thy Neighbour As Thyself". Years later a Pharisee who delighted in watching Christians killed met Christ on the road to Damascus, and his life was changed. St. Paul's famous letter to the Corinthians: - 1 Corinthians, Chapter 13, explains the meaning of love. In the 1970's there was a secular song that was very popular, the title was "What the World Needs Now is Love, Love, Love."

In the past two weeks we have had two very unkind, unloving letters printed in the Haliburton County Echo, written by Mr. Les Roberts and Mr. G. B. Allan. I would like to remind these gentlemen that we are all going to have to stand before God someday. He is not going to ask us how good we were in English or how many books we have read. He is going to ask each one of us "How much did you love".

I wish everyone a very loving and joyful Christmas.

Sincerely,
Dorothy Way,
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

I read Mr./Ms. Allan's letter with more than average interest as it referred to one of my favourite subjects, the use and misuse of English. I can appreciate the concern that some of your readers have regarding some of the 'goofs' that greet us in the Echo every week, but has he read any of our big city dailies lately? I, normally an easy-going, mild mannered kind of person, wrote an irate letter recently to the editor of the Toronto Star regarding the story of an article's being returned to "she and him". My letter wasn't published and incidentally, three cheers to Creighton for being such a good sport, as I'm sure he was asked for his permission to print the Allan letter.

Appalling English is not limited to the pens of writers. Hardly a day goes by that we aren't subjected to some unbelievable clangers that assault us from the air waves. I have listened open-mouthed as a few of our esteemed CBC and other network journalists have delivered grammatical blunders -- not often and not too devastating but still surprising for men and women who must have had a very comprehensive grounding in correct speech.

I cannot condone today's tendency toward sloppy English. I am shocked by it. I was brought up at home and at school to believe that speaking your language correctly is a duty and a privilege, a feeling that somehow, sadly, has gone by the boards, and I suspect that most of today's English teachers would have as much difficulty parsing a complicated sentence as their students. Too bad we weren't all fortunate enough to have attended Miss Mahony's English class at North Toronto Collegiate in the thirties.

Sincerely,
Nancy Hubbert,
Haliburton, Ontario

To the Editor:

In your "Letters to the Editor" column last week, a G. B. Allan of Toronto writes to you saying that your editorial pages must conform to the good rules of the "Queen's English". Why? Isn't it the paper's responsibility to communicate to its readers, and on that basis Creighton Feir's column does that.

It would be so easy to put G. B. Allan down but I get more pleasure putting people up.

Jack Campbell,

To the Editor:

It is the wee hours of the morning, I've just finished nursing my baby, and I can't get back to sleep. Why? I'm frustrated and angered. My soul is in anguish and deeply hurting for the unjustly aborted unborn babies. There are close to 30,000 abortions done in Ontario yearly and some 65,000 in all of Canada. I've pulled out a pen and paper just to express it and share it with you. I'm sure I speak for many others who may be equally frustrated and appalled at the court's decision to acquit abortionist Henry Morgentaler. The jury was not representative of the Canadian public in that it was specially selected with the aid of professional jury psychologists from the U.S. After questioning prospective jurors, parents of large families and regular attenders of church were purposefully excluded. Just last year on October 1, 1983 I was with the busload from this area who joined the 35,000 people who marched in front of Queen's Park to let our legislators know that we don't want abortion clinics.

I'm speaking out for the unborn because they obviously can't speak for themselves and being a happy mother of five little ones it especially cuts deep. I am against abortion except where it endangers the life of the mother.

I've just recently read an article in the November issue of the "Interim" which says that the culture from the lung tissue of an aborted baby has been used in the making of the Rubella vaccine and the Rabies vaccine. These vaccines have been used since 1979 and this has been confirmed by our ministry of health.

It is alarming to note that many cosmetic firms are taking advantage of this cheap natural resource (aborted babies) to make face creams -

Bantams skate to final match, lose decision to Peterborough

Haliburton's OMHA Bantams had a chance at the championship of the Hodgson Memorial hockey tournament on Saturday, but in the deciding game the local boys failed to outscore Peterborough and had to settle for a 5-3 loss.

Haliburton played strongly in the opening round of the one-day tournament, skating to a 6-5 win over Bobcaygeon, who went on to take the consolation championship.

Scott Russell opened the scoring for Haliburton with 5:58 left in the first period, but Bobcaygeon answered a little over a minute later.

The visitors went ahead 2-1 with about four minutes left in the period, but Jeff Warburton replied for Haliburton at 18:29, assisted by Russell, to tie the game at two apiece.

Neither team could gain the advantage for the first half of the second period, but it was Bobcaygeon which broke the deadlock at 11:33.

With 5:05 remaining in the second frame, Haliburton once more tied the match when Erin Nicholls tallied with help from Colin Hunter. Two more Haliburton goals followed, as Jeff Warburton made it 4-3, aided by Alan Rydman, and Erin Nicholls got his second of the game with help from Jaro Cooper and Drew Mitchell.

Haliburton hung on to the lead until late in the third period, when Bobcaygeon put together two quick power play goals to force the game into overtime.

With 4:24 left in the extra time, Erin Nicholls scored unassisted to give Haliburton a 5-4 win and a place in the championship semi-final.

Jeff Warburton was selected the star of the game.

In other first round games, Bracebridge defeated Immaculate Conception 4-2, Peterborough beat Orono 5-2, and Norwood blanked Oshawa 3-0.

Game five of the tournament saw Bobcaygeon dominate Immaculate Conception 6-0.

In Game six, Haliburton faced Bracebridge, and in this match the local boys had an easier time, relying on their superior skating and passing skills to help them rack up a 5-2 win and a place in the final.

Scoring for Haliburton were Ron Perrin from Jeff Warburton and Scott Russell in the first period; Jaro Cooper from Erin Nicholls in the second period; and in the final five minutes of the third period, Ron Perrin with his second from Cooper and Nicholls; Darren Byers from Cooper and Nicholls; and Scott Russell unassisted.

Ron Perrin received star-of-the-game honours.

Game seven was a lopsided affair, as Orono outscored Oshawa 5-1. In Game eight, Peterborough defeated Oshawa 5-2.

The consolation final game was a cliffhanger, with Orono skating to a 4-2 third period lead, then failing to stop Bobcaygeon, who won the match with just 27 seconds left in regulation time.

The championship game handed Haliburton their only disappointment of the tournament, as they could not hang on to a 2-1 lead in the first period and eventually had to settle for a 5-3 defeat.

Jaro Cooper accounted for both first period goals, the first to tie the score at one apiece with help from Colin Hunter, and the second less than a minute later, assisted by Darren Byers and Erin Nicholls.

Peterborough tied the game late in the first period, went ahead 3-2 in the second period, and built up a 5-2 advantage by the 13-minute mark of the third period.

Haliburton's only marker of the third period came with 4:25 left to play when Jeff Warburton connected on a three-way play from Nicholls and Cooper.

Drew Mitchell earned star-of-the-game honours in this match.

Last Thursday, in regular season play, the Haliburton Bantams skated to a 5-2 win over Little Britain. Scoring for Haliburton were Nicholls from Perrin and Warburton, Cooper from Warburton and Russell, Cooper from Nicholls and Hunter, Nicholls from Cooper, and Cooper from Nicholls.

It was a cleanly played game, with only four minutes of penalties called.

Pee Wee team chalk up wins

Haliburton's OMHA Pee Wee hockey team has been busy in recent weeks, and the following is a summary of recent games:

A match scheduled for November 13 was cancelled when, due to a mix-up in the schedule, Bobcaygeon did not show up.

On November 23 the Pee Wees travelled to Woodville and after a hard-fought battle, the boys came home with a 2-2 tie. Scoring for Haliburton were Jason Billings assisted by Jeff Anderson; and Kyle Hewitt assisted by Wade Wood and Shaun Perrin.

Sunday night, November 25, the boys travelled to Cannington and came home with a 7-1 victory. The big scorer for Haliburton was John Vuksic with four goals.

In the first period John Vuksic scored, assisted by Wade Wood. Cannington tied the score at the 1:53 mark. John Vuksic scored unassisted with 24 seconds left. Vuksic also scored, assisted by Kyle Hewitt and Wade Wood, with one second left in the period.

Second period scoring came from Jason Billings, assisted by Jason Morissette and Shaun Perrin and Jason Morissette assisted by Jason Billings and Shaun Perrin.

Third period scoring was by John Vuksic assisted by Wade Wood and Russell Morrison assisted by Jason Billings.

Still on their road trip, this time in Oakwood, on November 26, the boys won a 4-3 decision.

After a scoreless first period Haliburton's Jeff Anderson, assisted by Jason Billings, opened the scoring. Oakwood answered with a goal at the 3:50 mark.

In the third period Oakwood took the lead at the 13:23 mark. Four minutes later Haliburton found their legs and put three fast goals past the Oakwood netminder.

Scoring were John Vuksic assisted by Kyle Hewitt and Wade Wood; Jason Morissette assisted by Jeff Anderson and Jeff Anderson unassisted. At the 1:40 mark Oakwood was able to sneak one more goal past Hans Fluegel to end the game.

Finally back on home ice November 27, the boys provided the fans with an exciting game, winning over Fenelon Falls 3-2.

During the first period both teams made end to end rushes but were unable to score any goals.

Fenelon opened the scoring at the 5:38 mark of the second period. Haliburton's Kyle Hewitt assisted by Wade Wood and John Vuksic

Emmerson Lumber wins again, motormen earn their first tie

Emmerson Lumber skated to their sixth consecutive victory Monday night to remain undefeated in the Haliburton men's recreational hockey league. The Emmerson Lumber squad outpointed second place Bishop and Wilson 5-2 to keep their winning streak alive.

In the night's other game, Curry Motors and Haliburton Lumber battled to a 4-4 tie, leaving the motormen still winless on the season.

Emmerson Lumber took the lead less than five minutes into the first period of their match against the surveyors, and did not relinquish it. Scoring the first marker was Gary Burch from Paul Howe.

With 8:48 remaining in the period Phil Barry made it 2-0 with help from Tom Curry.

Emmerson Lumber clicked again at 5:56 of the second period as Drew Carey put the puck past Kevin Finch in the Bishop and Wilson net with an assist from Paul Howe.

A little over a minute later the lumber team moved into a commanding 4-0 lead when Kim Emmerson connected on a three-way play from Gary Burch and Paul Howe.

Bishop and Wilson finally got on the board a little over five minutes into the third period, and they got another with 8:48 left to play.

But Emmerson Lumber shut the door on the surveyors' hopes at 13:32 when Kim Emmerson got his second of the night with help from Burch and Howe.

Curry Motors looked stronger in the first half of their game against Haliburton Lumber than they have all season, jumping into a 3-0 lead before watching that slip to a 4-4 tie.

Derrell Stamp opened the scoring for the motormen at the seven-minute mark of the first period, assisted by Bill Johnston.

Just past the half-way point of the period, Stamp scored again, this time unassisted, to put Curry Motors in front by two goals.

Memorial hockey tournament in Haliburton on Saturday. The Haliburton Bantams made it to the final, only to lose out to Peterborough by a 5 - 3 score.

Unbeaten rinks involved in showdown

The two unbeaten rinks in the "A" Division of the Monmouth Curling Club Mixed Curling League met head-on in the final week of the first round robin challenge with Jack Watson's "Wildcats" taking a decisive 10 - 4 win over "Hogan's Heroes" and giving the "Wildcats" a slim 1/4 point lead in the overall standings. The "Wildcats" have Jack Watson as skip, vice Sylvia Tallman, second Clive Taylor and lead Pat Taylor. "Hogan's Heroes", who held the league lead from the first week, are the Hogan family of son Roger, skip, wife Judy, dad Garf and mom Doris.

In the "B" division, the powerful Berning rink of skip Fred and vice Brenda with Al and Edith Langmead sailed through the first round robin undefeated and now advance to "A" division. Don Febreau's rink of vice Kim Covert, second Ken Golby and lead Ladonna Smith headed the "C" division through the first session and now move up to challenge those curlers in "B".

In men's play, Tony Berning's rink leads the way in the pre-Christmas draw with the Mac Gaway foursome in second place. Jack Watson's crew holds down third place and Fred Berning's rink is in fourth place.

Spectators are more than welcome at the Monmouth Curling Club in Wilberforce. At present, there is mixed curling Sundays at 7:30 p.m., Mondays at 7 and 9 p.m. and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. The curlers and spectators alike appear to appreciate the modest renovations that have taken place so far this year so even if you can't participate, drop in and watch one of the exciting matches.

The first bonspiel of the year will be held this weekend, December 7-8. It's the Bicentennial Sugar Plus Spiel for mixed curlers and the action starts Friday evening and continues all day Saturday. There are prizes galore and a good time is promised for all. In addition to prizes donated by the Hillebrand Estates Winery and the Monmouth Curling Club, the first place winners will have their names placed in a draw along with other winners of bicentennial spiels for four air vacations where Nordair flies.

Pee Wees notch wins ties the score at 1 - 1. With 10 seconds left in the period, Jason Billings unassisted put Haliburton ahead.

In the third period, Fene- lon returned to the ice determined to win, scoring at the 8:26 mark to tie the game. Haliburton, showing the same determination, scored at the 2:38 mark from Jeff Anderson assisted by John Vuksic to end the game.

Coaches say the whole team is playing excellent hockey and is to be congratulated on the exciting games they are providing.

Motormen tie

Gary Brohman scored with help from John Robinson and the motormen led by three goals.

But Haliburton Lumber began to find the scoring touch at 8:33 as Dean Curry tallied from Dwight Sisson.

With 4:20 left in the second frame Joe Roberts scored on a sole effort to narrow the gap to one goal.

At 5:47 of the third period Dean Curry got his second of the night with help from Roberts to tie the game at three.

The motormen regained the lead with 4:23 left on the clock as Bob Nichol scored with help from Glen Scully and Derrell Stamp but they could not hold onto it, as Dwight Sisson gave Haliburton Lumber their fourth goal with 2:29 remaining.

Assistig on the play were Dean Curry and Joe Roberts.

It was the closest Curry Motors have come to a win so far this year, and could indicate that their losing streak will not continue much longer.

Midgets get win, then tie Woodville

TRADITIONS

Ed and I took dog and made our fourth annual trek up into the bush to tag the yule tree the other day. It's really no big deal. We just hunt up a suitable tree, and tie a bright red ribbon on it so we can find it again in a couple of weeks. But it's one of the traditions that go with living here. A ritual among many that makes the Christmas season significant.

Perhaps, later on, when we go to collect the tree, the weather will be brisk and cold, with snow on the ground. But it was warm and spring-like when we tagged it. No snow, not even a hint of winter's icy blast. We even had to take time to pick several nettles and burrs from our slacks. It didn't take us long to find a nice spruce around five feet tall, with no gapping bare spots. And we remembered other trees, and other Christmases.

That's the thing about traditions. They help us to log in our minds, other years, both lean and easy. The reactions of our children to their first Santa, the Christmas lights.

I remember the first Christmas I spent with Ed and his family, when we were dating. Coming from a very small family, I was an only child, I was totally flabberghasted when I entered a houseful of brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, nephews and nieces. The noise was deafening. Toys and wrapping paper were everywhere. And yet, there was a sort of customary order to the chaos. They were all used to it. And when we sat down to eat, out came this enormous bird, along with bowls and platters, relishes and cookies and cakes in a seemingly unending parade. When I tried to imagine myself cooking for this mob, I broke out in a nervous sweat. Later in the evening, I recall sitting with Ed and having one of his sister's toddlers fall asleep on our laps. It was comfy, cozy, and we romanticized about our future Christmases together with our own family.

Our first Christmas together as man and wife was just a bit sparse. We were living in Bainbridge, Maryland, where Ed was stationed in the navy. Our apartment was in a converted farmhouse, outfitted in the Early American over-stuffer rejects. We had a two-foot high, spindly tree with some tinsel and a few cheap lights and decorations. There was no snow and no family gathering. However, we were still newlyweds and we persevered.

I recall our firstborn's Christmas at one-year old. We had a nice roomy, but inexpensive flat. A huge, bushy tree with Ed's old train set running beneath it. Rita was as busy and energetic then as she is now. Her roly-poly body hopped around between the train, her bright red boots, her truck and her dolly. I rocked her to sleep as she gazed hypnotically at the twinkle lights. It was the last Christmas for a very long time with a real live tree. For Rita soon acquired allergic bronchitis, and a tree was one of many forbidden inhabitants to our household. Now, the three kids have all outgrown their allergies and have real trees of their own. While the perfect, artificial tree has been relegated to the far corner of the basement.

There have been many other lovely Christmases. We did survive a few gatherings of the clan in our house. They were always special times. There were sad Christmases, when we had lost a parent or sister-in-law, or brother-in-law. When the family seemed to cling closer, remembering other CHACE would like to send out a special thank you to everyone who made our first annual Christmas Craft Sale a delightful and successful day. Your generous donations of baking and crafts were greatly appreciated by CHACE and the crowds of Christmas shoppers who were able to find just the right gift for that special person on their Christmas list.

As you may have already heard, Faye Maddock is resigning from her position as administrator, after two years of dedication and hard work. CHACE extends an invitation to everyone, to join us in a farewell thank you party for Faye on Wednesday, December 12 from 7 - 9 p.m. at CHACE Place.

December is generally a busy month for most people and it is also a busy time at CHACE. Activities this month reflect the spirit of the Christmas season. The agenda for Wednesday mornings will include singing our favourite Christmas carols and reading Christmas stories from around the world. Decorations for CHACE Place will be made by the children during the next few weeks, in preparation for our visit from Santa. Santa will be joining us for our Christmas Party on Thursday, December 13. Plan to join us for the festivities that day.

With the excitement of Christmas all around us, this time of year can also be a stressful occasion for some, including kids. Make Christmas a relaxed and happy time for your children by being relaxed and happy yourself. Avoid last minute shopping and chores. Get the kids involved in Christmas preparations by having them help you with decorating, gift making and baking. Kids, like adults are filled with excitement during the holiday season and outbursts of emotion can occur. Children need extra love and attention during the busy Christmas holidays. Have a merry and relaxing Christmas.

Drop into CHACE Monday to Friday, 10 - 4, and Saturday, 10 - 2 for lots of fun and laughter. CHACE will be closed for the holiday season from Saturday, December 22 to Wednesday, January 2.

Senior League

By BERT HARRISON

Dear readers, another week has gone again since we penned a line to you. There is quite a lot of activity around here with relatives coming in to call and others going out.

Chapel service was held Sunday night and quite a number were there. Harold Thompson read the lesson, from the 6th chapter of John and also led with prayer. Then Rev. Burgess spoke.

We are sorry to report that nurse Quinn had the misfortune to sprain her ankle, which is a painful thing.

Edna Cowan spent the weekend with her daughter, Marie Baker and just came back Sunday. Lillie Hogg had company while her roommate was away. Edith Welch celebrated her birthday last Wednesday with a bang. It seemed almost like a happy gang.

It looks like Georgina and Leigh Lerrex came to Hyland Crest and stayed to have a birthday dinner with Edith. They were her special guests.

The previous Sunday, Edith's son Ron and his wife Pat came with his mother to dine and also with aunt Caroline. Then, by the way Gerald's wife Jean came from Coburg to dine with Edith on Tuesday.

Last Saturday afternoon our son Nelson and his wife Marmie from London, Ontario, came to spend a couple of hours with me, then took off again.

Monday morning down at fun and fitness everyone played who could. The game of knocking down the most bowling pins, was won by Millie Wood.

As you readers know I have a sore toe and a lame arm. I thought I had lost weight all around, but I gained three pounds.

The movies Doris showed us Monday night, were interesting and clear.

We had our last auxiliary meeting for 1984 on Monday night, with a goodly number there. A word of tribute to Aileen Blears, our retired president, who did a job deserving of a cheer. We would also like to thank our vice president, secretary, treasurer and all who work so faithfully through the year. I feel we had a good year and accomplished a great deal. I'd like to say "Merry Christmas" to each member here and may God bless you all as we go our different ways.

Pastor Wood and wife Joyce of Allsaw Pentecostal Church came over to our chapel this lovely Tuesday. Joyce to lead us in Christmas carols. Fine music she does play. Pastor Wood brought us an interesting message. We thank them both for coming.

Tuesday night Fred Ballard came, fine organ music he does play. Gordon Ruttle and I helped him by the way.

Wednesday morning down at fun and fitness playing bucket ball, Lola Prentice won out over all.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of Minden Gospel Church brought in a lunch, which was just fine. Also two gentlemen came along, Harold Thompson and Rev. Burgess. Rev. John asked the blessing on the food before we sat down to dine. We also had a birthday part for those who had birthdays in November, with a birthday cake made by Marilyn White. It was really tasty and so light.

Then Ruth Thompson played the music for a sing-a-long. Then Marjorie Johnson closed with prayer, thanking the Lord for all good things from above.

We would like to thank Eldon Dencon, wife Maybelle and Doug Ripley for calling the bingo numbers Thursday night. Some of the players said they had luck and some of them did all right.

Our friendship ministry group came to us once more. They are so sincere and our own Heather Bowan sang so lovely with her voice so sweet and clear. We're glad they come back to us two or three times a year.

Adolescence is when children start to bring up their parents.

The Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-in Centre will be holding a joint Christmas get-together for those that partake (or would like to partake) in the various programs that are currently taking place in the Drop-in Centre. It will be held on Monday, December 17 at 12:30 in the form of a luncheon and card games following. Each group (bridge, euchre and cribbage) will be approached by the appropriate convenor to organize the luncheon. Everyone is welcome to come. This will be the last time these three groups will meet until the new year. Bridge will resume on Monday, January 7, euchre on Wednesday, January 9 and cribbage on Friday, January 11.

From the Chamber

Tourism is an idea whose time has come everywhere in the world. In Canada, thousands of community leaders and business people are taking advantage of tourism's vast potential to transform the growth, development and civic spirit of their communities.

Having talked to tourism experts, business people and community leaders, we are convinced that Canada can double its tourism revenue in a very short time. That would mean by conservative estimates, several hundred thousands new jobs and billions of dollars distributed throughout local economies.

Bill Pattison, President of Delta Hotels and Chairman of the Tourism Advisory Council says "When Canadians realize how important tourism really is - we'll see economic miracles from one end of Canada to the other."

This economic breakthrough won't happen automatically - there is too much competition. We have to plan and work for it, capitalizing on our strengths.

And it won't happen by the federal government spending money for promotion - although that is crucial. The support of the federal and provincial government is a key factor but not the most important.

The catalyst for a tourism boom in Canada will be the planning and action that can take place in hundreds of communities.

There is no economic force quite so strong, so beneficial, and so long lasting as a community that mobilizes all its natural, created and human resources to develop a unique, satisfying and affordable tourist experience for thousands of visitors.

The tourism market is highly competitive - and Canada won't win its share without cooperative effort among government, private sector groups and individuals.

The federal government is doing its part to sell Canada to the world, and to turn Canadians on to the excitement of their own country. Tourism

Canada has undertaken dozens of major activities during the past twelve months to promote Canada as a surprising, sophisticated, entertaining and satisfying tourist destination for travellers from all countries.

This message was aimed at the Americans, the Europeans, selected Latin American countries and at people in the 'Pacific rim' area of Australia, Japan, Hong Kong, Southeast Asia and Korea.

The federal government spends millions of dollars to promote tourism. So do the hundreds of private enterprises that make up the tourism industry. But all the promotional money in the world won't amount to anything if tourists are not satisfied with their Canadian travel experience. We can woo the tourists, but it's up to the community to win the loyalty of the visitor.

Dozens of Canadian communities just like ours are winning at the tourism game. In each case success started when community leaders adopted a positive attitude toward planning, development and marketing.

"I'm very excited about Canada's prospects of success in the world market," says Pattison. He bases his enthusiasm on the skill, imagination and cooperation that is already at work throughout the country. It's only a matter of time before hundreds of communities focus on the opportunity that tourism offers. When that happens, we'll see new economic growth from one end of Canada to the other.

Coming Events

Queen's Park Report

by John Eakins, MPP

Last week, David Peterson rose in the Ontario Legislature to extend congratulations to three Conservative leadership candidates who had joined the Opposition's crusade to make Ontario Hydro more accountable to the taxpayers of this province. He took the Minister of Energy to task about the giant corporation, stating that "Three of the contenders for the throne have now become Hydro-bashers, very critical of the way that Ontario Hydro is being run at the moment. These gentlemen out travelling the province, listening with their ears close to the ground, are now very much aware that the public feeling is that there are tremendous problems at Ontario Hydro - that Ontario Hydro is out of control".

In recent weeks, Treasurer Larry Grossman, Attorney-General Roy McMurtry and Agriculture and Food Minister Dennis Timbrell have responded to questions by saying that they would support a review of Ontario Hydro. On the other hand, leadership contender Industry and Trade Minister Frank Miller has indicated that he does not believe the utility is out of control. (One of his supporters for the leadership is the current Minister of Energy).

Ever since the end of minority government in Ontario, the Conservatives have resisted all Opposition attempts to have tougher controls imposed on the corporation, and have argued that existing review agencies were adequate.

Citing the views of the three leadership hopefuls, David Peterson asked the Minister of Energy, "Is the Minister not persuaded now... that indeed we do have to look at new ways to bring Ontario Hydro into some form of accountability?"

"He has been berated by the Opposition for a long time. Now his own colleagues are critical of the same things we have been critical of".

The Minister has indicated that he will be guided by what he is told by his Cabinet colleagues in Cabinet meetings, rather than what is said on the hustings. He has also stated: "My mind has never been closed to the idea of a review, but I don't go for the proposition that Hydro is out of control".

Recently Opposition members raised the fact that the leadership contenders had very different views on subjects which could be publicly discussed during the leadership race. These expressed differences were the subject of much criticism in the House, and the government was accused of creating confusion and secretiveness.

Mail order lottery sales

The Minister of Tourism and Recreation has acknowledged that a Mississauga mail-order business is breaking U.S. postal laws by offering Ontario lottery tickets to residents of the United States, but maintains that there is nothing the province can do about this. He has told the Legislature that the Ontario Lottery Corporation has investigated mail-order lottery ticket firms, but can find no way to put a stop to their operations.

According to a brochure from the Financial Freedom Group, U.S. residents are invited to buy Lott 6/49 tickets and are told they have a "big shot at megabucks" in a tax-free jackpot. The tickets are not mailed to the buyers. Only money which is won is mailed to the winners. While lottery winnings are not taxed in Canada, they are taxed in the U.S.

The manager of Financial Freedom Group has stated that the company has operated for more than three years and has heard no complaints from either Canadian or U.S. authorities.

Expressing the belief that the mail-order business breaks U.S. law, the Minister stated "The Ontario Lottery Corporation does not condone this kind of activity or sales in the U.S. It does a fine business right in this province".

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Wilberforce News

The residents of Wilberforce and surrounding areas are very appreciative of the support given by the sponsors of our minor hockey teams. On Saturday, December 1 the teams were equipped with sweaters and socks provided by their sponsors. The Legion Branch 624 have adopted the Bantam team. The South Algonquin Kinsmen sponsored the Pee Wees and Curry Motors of Haliburton supplied the outfits for the Atom Players. A special thanks to Carol Bolton, our photographer.

Available now is the Wilberforce Minor Hockey community calendar. Call Sally Stoughton 448-2725 to arrange for a pick-up.

This last week we have lost two of our citizens. Donald Finlay, life-long resident of Tory Hill, died at the Haliburton hospital on November 26. A funeral service was held in the Tory Hill United Church. Burial took place at the South Wilberforce cemetery. Bill Riley died in the Peterborough hospital after a lengthy illness. Bill was a resident of Essonville.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the friends and relations of these two good men.

A very successful wildlife dinner was held at the Legion hall on Saturday. There was a large crowd in attendance and many compliments were heard in appreciation of this fine meal.

There will be a Christmas carol service at St. Margaret's Church on December 13. A program for children will also take place. The service is to be from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Norland Natter

By KELLY GRAHAM

Hello. Well, we're into December now and if you're like me the very word - December - jolts you into remembering the many Christmas presents you have yet to buy and the many things you must do before the new year.

Darell and Laura Janke of Norland enjoyed a recent vacation in Florida with their son Mark. I guess that's one way of escaping the ever-decreasing temperatures.

Shirley and John Harrison, of Norland, also are sun-seekers, it seems. They recently returned from a one-week Caribbean cruise from Montego Bay to Aruba, Colombia, Islands of San Blas and Panama. They also spent a week in Jamaica. I trust they had an enjoyable time.

For those of you who'll be sticking around home during the holiday season, don't forget the turkey bingo at the Norland Community Hall on December 10.

For those of you busy preparing treats for Christmas celebrations, here's a recipe you might want to try - Holiday Peanut Butter Fudge, 3/4 cup evaporated milk, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 2 1/4 cups sugar, 1 1/4 cups marshmallow creme, 1 tsp. vanilla, 2 cups peanut butter chips, 1 c. brok. pecan pieces, 1/4 cup green candied cherries quartered, 1/4 cup red candied cherries quartered. Red and green candied cherries, pecan halves. Butter an 8-inch square pan. Combine evaporated milk, butter, sugar and marshmallow creme in a heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat until mixture begins to boil, stirring constantly. Continue cooking and stirring for five minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Immediately add peanut butter chips, stirring until completely melted. Stir in broken pecan pieces and quartered candied cherries. Pour into prepared pan. Decorate with additional pecan halves and candied cherries. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes about three pounds. Store in air-tight container.

Here are the senior citizens' bridge and euchre scores from last Tuesday: ladies euchre, first - Gladys Routley, second - Ivy Boyce, lone hands - Ivy Boyce, consolation - Elva Hannivan. Men's euchre: first - Doug Taylor, second - Jean Montgomery, lone hands - Doug Taylor, consolation - Charlie Brohm. Bridge, first - Jack Purdon, second - Pat Cornelius, consolation - Fred Watts.

The winner of the hockey pool last week was Boyd Magee. Congratulations Boyd.

West Guilford News

By E. COOPER

The St. Andrew's Day Concert was a great success this year, judging by the crowd which was the largest ever, and the comments made since. Thanks to the piper, to the dancers under Don Clarke's direction, the dancers under Faith Stephenson's direction, Faith's dancing in particular, to pianists Kathleen Owens and Nora Morrison, and to the two choirs - John Phillips' Gospel Choir and Marilyn Stouffer's Guild Choir. The refreshments provided by St. Andrew's ACW were also appreciated while people visited afterwards.

On Sunday morning several people from our community were confirmed and took communion at a huge gathering of the three Anglican Churches of the area: St. Margaret's, Wilberforce; St. George's, Haliburton and St. Andrew's, West Guilford. This congregation of about 300 gathered at the Legion in Haliburton where everything was arranged most suitably and beautifully for the occasion. Janet Bain, Michael Chumbley, Nora and Gerald Morrison and Rhonda Callard joined the Anglican communion and Joan Sisson was welcomed and received from the Roman Catholic communion. Welcome all of you.

The radio club of the Huntsville high school are given free air-time on radio station CFBK and are on the air from 7 to 7:30 each Thursday night. Two Dorset girls participate in this variety program. Anyone who has not seen the Cullen Gardens miniature village near Whitby has missed something worth seeing. My friends, Jean Jones and Lil Vale and I went out in the afternoon and saw it by daylight, had dinner in their dining room and then toured again when all of the Christmas lights were turned on. It was a very impressive sight with literally dozens of Christmas trees lit up and each miniature house with its own lights, a veritable fairyland. Each little building is authentic, being a replica of some home or building in an area that includes greater Toronto, Port Hope and Whitby. Some of the homes have swimming pools, a guest house, riding stables and some are estates. Miniature cars stand in driveways and there is a small train that winds through the village. Little stores, with their merchandise on display line the main street. The only flowers in evidence at this time of year were flowering Kale, but they were beautiful in all different colors. During the spring and summer I am told that it is a riot of color starting with their tulip festival in May then masses of roses and annuals throughout the summer.

throughout the summer. There was a nativity scene set up and live animals and petting zoo in the valley. The village is closed from January to April, so if you can't make it before January 6 plan for a trip next spring or summer.

We are happy to welcome home Kate MacKay who was a patient in Huntsville Hospital for several weeks. We are glad to hear that Kate is feeling better and just about back to her perky self.

We have had a reprieve in the arrival of winter and it really is not due until the 21st of December so we hope it doesn't come before its due date, and not even then if it feels so inclined. Winter is an etching, spring a watercolor, summer an oil painting and autumn a mosaic of them all.

H.H. If you have brought plants in from outside for the winter and they are buggy, put the pots in a plastic garbage bag with a long stick pushed down into the soil. Hang a Vapona insect strip from the top of the stick and close the top of the bag. Leave for two or three days. It will kill any bugs on the plant or in the soil and will not harm the house plants.

KEEPING HER IN LINE

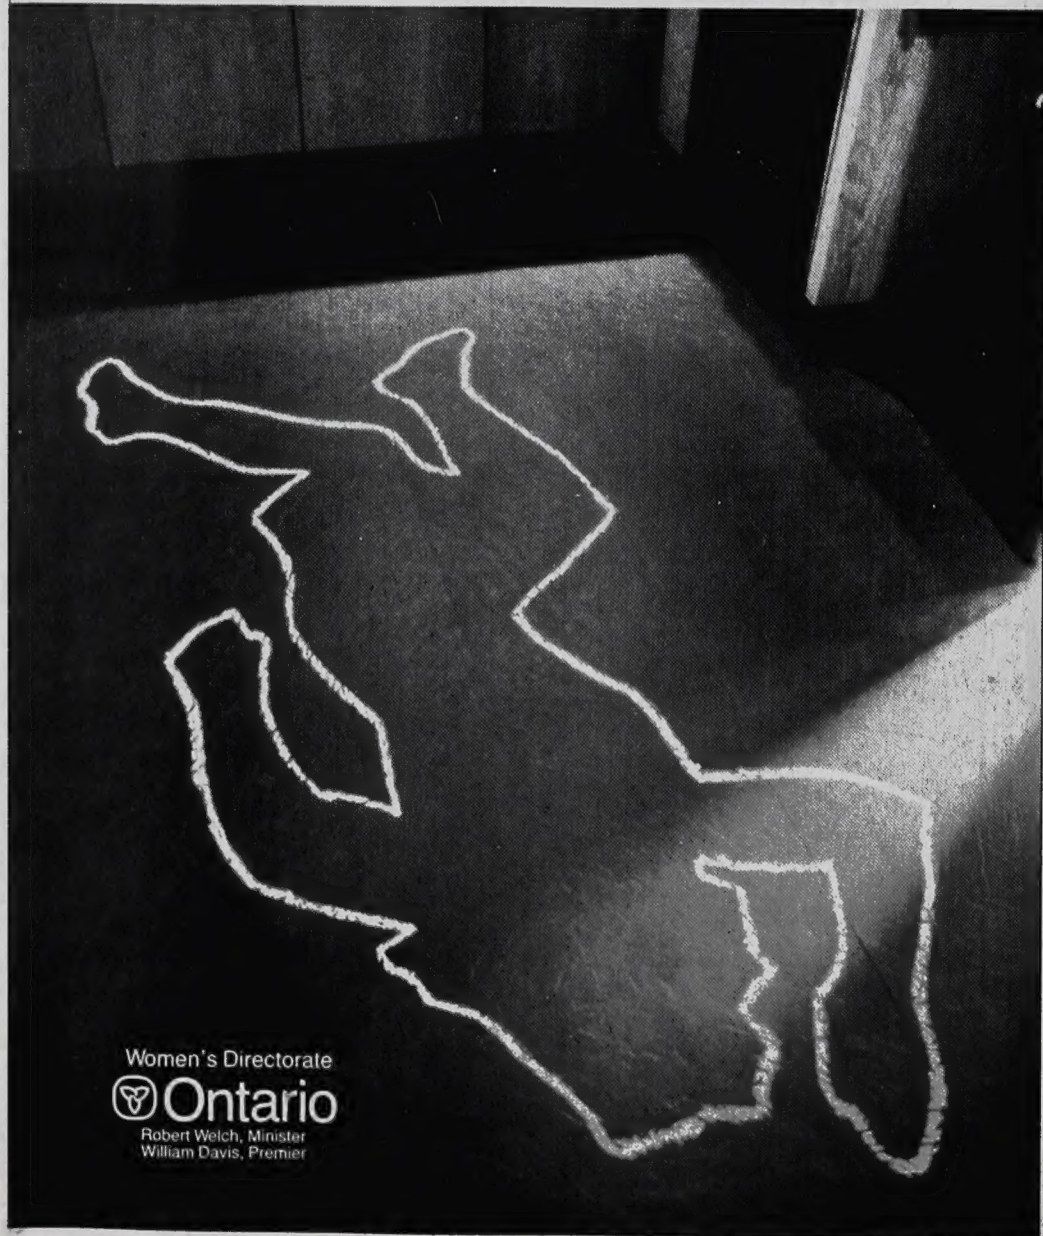

It's something you may have overheard but will seldom hear discussed. Yet it's a brutal reality. For every year, one woman in ten is abused by her husband. Put down verbally. And beaten up physically—to the point of unconsciousness, hospitalization or death. In fact, wife assault is involved in one fifth of all Canada's homicides.

Clearly, physical abuse of any kind is against the law. Violence against wives is especially repugnant. The children in these homes may grow up conditioned to accept abuse, or renew the cycle by abusing others.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY.

The Glamorgan Recreation Committee are considering two possible programs for January-February 1985; depending on the interest shown. Jack Gedney is available to instruct "Olde Tyme Square Dancing". Also, "Stress Management for Better Health" is a possibility. Anyone interested is asked to sign a list in the Gooderham post office.

"Santa Comes to Gooderham" will again be sponsored by the recreation committee on Saturday, December 15 at 11 a.m. There will be all sorts of children's activities and lunch. At the same time at 3 p.m. the residents of our community are invited to share a bicentennial cake and a time of fellowship to celebrate the end of Ontario's Bicentennial year.

We are glad to report that our reeve Bob McCausland, is home again after having undergone successful surgery for removal of the gall bladder. We trust his convalescence will be rapid.

Interment took place in the Glamorgan cemetery last Wednesday of Shirley Stewart of Bobcaygeon. Sympathy goes out to her husband, Mike, and her parents, Ted and Iva Hadley.

Nora Carey underwent cataract surgery last Friday at Peterborough Civic Hospital. We trust her eyesight will now be improved sufficiently so that she can resume her hobby of quilt making.

Jeff MacDuff is home from Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, following an emergency appendectomy there. Clear sailing now, Jeff.

It is good to report that Ross Alsop is showing improvement and expects to be moved from the Oshawa Hospital to Port Perry Hospital soon.

Leona Mackie of St. Catharines and Margaret Pickens have just returned from a month if Johannesburg, South Africa, where they visited Dallyn Jr.

The weather was excellent and the jacaranda and other trees were in full bloom as well as other native flowers.

While there they visited the largest gold mine in the world and saw a gold bar being poured, the value of which was around $400,000.

That day they also saw an exhibition of tribal dancing at the open air theatre and toured the many exhibits which contained houses and furnishings of the early 1900's and a working model of a gold mine reduction plant. They also toured underground at this mine.

There was a visit to the South African Broadcasting Corporation with friends of Dallyn who are employed there. Security is very tight here because of bomb threats.

The second week they flew to Cape Town and spent a week at Sea Point Overlooking the Atlantic Ocean. While in this area, they visited the Cape of Good Hope Game Reserve and the point where the Atlantic and Indian Oceans meet, Cape Point. An interesting side trip was to the Groot Constantia house and vineyards where some of South Africa's famous wines have been made since the 1600's. The original house - Cape Dutch architecture - contained beautiful massive hand-made furniture and dishes of that era.

A weekend at Durban on the Indian Ocean, which was warm but very rough, was another highlight of their visit.

Before returning home they spent a few days at Kruger Park where they saw almost every species of animal to be found there, with the exception of the big cats. Visitors are only allowed in the park from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the cat family do little hunting until dark.

They returned home by S.A.A. on November 23 after an enjoyable vacation.

The November book exchange took place at the library, leaving another selection of excellent reading material, both new and old. Among the fiction can be found: westerns, historical, romances, detective and suspense, science-fiction and other categories too numerous to mention.

In the new non-fiction there are several illustrated books from the "Illustrated Life of Jesus" with so many beautiful paintings to "The Old Kingston Road" with photography by Paul Van Baich. Barbara Woodhouse in "Barbara's World of Horses and Ponies" captures the imagination of everyone interested in them.

"Hen's Teeth and Horses' Toes" by Stephen Gould provides the answers to dozens of questions on natural science.

"Pure and Simple" an additive-free cook book will hold the interest of anyone who enjoys healthy eating.

There also are new books on Christmas cooking and decorating; a book which tells you how to win at chess; the history of flying and airports from about 1910; and biographies.

If there is any book you would like to read, visit the library, and your obliging librarian will try to secure it for you. We are truly fortunate to have such an excellent service.

KINMOUNT KORNER

By MILLIE MOSS

Once again the ACW of St. James Church in Kinmount have done a great job with the help of everyone who helped, donated and just plain attended. The annual Christmas bazaar/bake sale and luncheon was a tremendous success and the hall was packed to its capacity most of the hours it was held. Everyone seemed happy and many people had their picture taken with Santa. Lunch was delicious and there was lots of it. Thanks to all who helped and/or attended.

Little Brandi Anne Sedgwick was baptized at St. James Anglican Church, Kinmount on Sunday, November 25.

The ACW is now selling 1985 church calendars at a cost of $2.50. If you wish to buy one contact Ruby Schell of St. James Church, Kinmount or Greata Reeds of St. Luke's Anglican, Burnt River.

Remember at this time the sick folks: Chester Godwin who is awaiting open heart surgery, Saria Knowles who is a patient in Peterborough Civic Hospital following surgery and expects to be there for some weeks; Les Swanton who is very ill in a Bobcaygeon nursing home, Lyle Anderson who is in Minden Red Cross following a mild heart attack, Jean Newby and Pearl Lyle, also both in hospital.

It is nice to hear Douglas Godwin and Helen Harper are both out of hospital and convalescing at their respective homes. Why not stop for awhile and send these folks a card or a note of cheer?

Euchre scores for Galtway are: men's high: Bill Holstock, men's low: Frank Franzen, ladies' high: Shirley Yates, ladies' low: Ruth Menard, lone hands: Ida Young.

A combined birthday/farewell party was held for "English Patti Booth" at the Int'Veens. The guests enjoyed the pot luck and cards but especially the entertainment provided by Patti who has been visiting with the "crazy eights" and has been a real pleasure. She'll be missed! Patti was hoping that the miner's strike would have been settled by now as it was her one Christmas wish. All are praying Patti gets her wish.

A very happy birthday to Heinz Int-Veen, Joan Alzner, "English Patti", Helen Graham, Ida Pardy, Jim Walker and Bill Moss Jr.

Best wishes to Caroline Morrow who entered hospital December 3 for corrective knee surgery.

It's nice to hear Sam Telford is feeling much better these days but I was very sorry to learn Bob Wilson, Lyle Anderson, Les Swanton, the Doug Cameron family, Jean Newby, Dot Crego, Pearl Lyle, Thomas Watson to name a few, are suffering from numerous illnesses these days. We wish all of you well.

The 1984/85 interbranch darts took place at Kinmount Legion on Saturday, November 24 with games going from 12 noon to 8:30 p.m. Teams filled the Legion hall, from Haliburton, Kinmount, Cobocok, Bobcaygeon, Sunderland, Beaverton, Brechin, Lindsay and Cannington. Thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary who served the lunch. With sixteen teams taking a shot at the old dart board the outcome was as follows: first place: Lindsay team #4, Cobocok, second and Beaverton third. In the doubles Leonard Shier and Rob Carter took first while John and Kelly Weaver took second with Mike and Eileen Downes coming up third. Singles was won by Mike Downes, second place going to John Wicks. An enjoyable day was had by all which pleased sports officer Branch #441, Albert Crego.

Our community centre is now sporting a very nice red, new roof. The Austin group did a very good job and speaking of the community hall, everyone, is cordially invited to attend the last bicentennial event in the form of a Christmas fund day to be held Sunday, December 9 beginning at 3:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Well folks, it's been a sad week. A double murder in our part of the country is a shock to say the least. Bill and I were just north of town when we observed some thirty cars in the funeral procession headed for Kinmount Cemetery where the bodies of Joan Hall in her 29th year and her little two-year old, Nadia Elizabeth, were laid to rest. Our deepest sympathy to Gertie Traviss and young Kyle in the loss of mom/daughter/sister/granddaughter. Sympathy also, to the many relatives and friends in the area in the loss of two young people taken far too soon. Memorial donations will be greatly appreciated at the Kozy Korner Restaurant in Haliburton in aid of the "Kyle Hall Trust Fund".

Sympathy also to family and friends of Alexander Wren of Kinmount who died suddenly in Toronto last Thursday.

The Kinmount Fire Department held a dance Saturday, November 24, to raise funds for the Victoria County Disaster Fund. The Burnt River Country Band played an excellent evening - free, for this worthy cause. Thank you fellows! Don Ragan, coordinator for the Disaster Fund in this area was handed $115 during the evening. A special thanks to "Gram" Bacon for her $20 donation. The D & D Variety (Don and Dot Ragan) raised $60 in their store for this cause which will be added to the above amounts so a total of $195 will be handed to the fund. I hope fun was had by all.

Stay well and happy, read the Echo and remember: A bank if merely a place where you keep the government's money until the government asks for it back again. Call me at 488-2353.

Coboconk News

By SHEILA LAKE

"Tis the season to be jolly", and the merchants all have their stores decked out in Christmas finery. The Senior Citizens took a charter bus trip to Oshawa Shopping Centre on Wednesday and later, visited the Cullen Gardens at Whitby to see the Christmas lights. Those who have seen the Cullen lights say it is truly spectacular.

The seniors' card games in the Coby Community Hall are still well attended on Tuesday evenings. Winners in last week's games are as follows: euchre - Gladys Routly, 71; Ivy Boyce, 66; most lone hands - Ivy Boyce, 4; Consolation - Elva Hannivan, 47; Doug Taylor, 79; Jean Montgomery, 73; most lone hands - Doug Taylor, 4; Consolation - Charlie Brohm, 39; bridge - Jack Purdon, 6440; Pat Corneilious, 4290; consolation, Fred Watts, 1320.

Again this year, you may say your Christmas cake from a worth-while group, the Victoria County Multiple Sclerosis self help group. Place your order through Helen Jones at 454-8266 or order from Betty Smales at 454-3967 or 454-3375.

If you would like to have your child fingerprinted and photographed through C.H.I.L.D. identification you can take your child to Coboconk Public School on Monday, December 10 from 10:00 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Bring your pre-school kiddies preferably after 3:30 p.m. when regular school is dismissed. Cost is $1.

Don't forget the bingo at Somerville Community Centre on December 7. Early birds start at 7:30.

Don't forget the Coby Santa Claus parade on December 9. This is always a good parade and youngsters will get treats when they go to the Coby Legion hall after the parade.

I was pleasantly surprised to have brother-in-law, Dr. Wm. White of Calgary, Alberta drop in for lunch at noon on Wednesday. I knew he was in Toronto from November 26 to November 29 as I had got a letter from my sister that morning, but there was no mention of him coming north from Toronto.

Jeanette Lywood, Leone Jewell and Charlie Brohm all were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Jewell at Peterborough last Monday.

Aunt Myrtle Faulkner and I journeyed to Minden Wednesday evening to pay our respect to the Hall family, in the cruel death of Joan Hall and her daughter at Eagle Lake on November 24. Joan's sister, Jean, is married to a relative, Lorne Brohm, my cousin and my aunt's nephew. One can only wonder how cruel one human can be to another when they could slash to death their own little girl and her mother.

Jane Tooze, her son, and her mom and dad, Myrtle and Jack Tooze have moved into the former "Now and Then" restaurant on main street.

Congratulations to Rose and Roger Bradimore who take over the restaurant at the Shell Service Station at the corner of Highway 35 and 48. Rose is a very experienced gal, having worked at Riverside Restaurant across from the Pattie House Hotel, for many years. We wish you much success in your new venture.

Howard and Karen Hall have bought some land on Hugill Road off Baseline Road and have been busy getting things in order to eventually build there.

I hope you are feeling better, Irene Brohm, following your surgery.

Our main street still has some empty stores and it is hoped that will change in the months ahead. Truly, we need more businesses on main street. Wouldn't it be great if some enterprising person would open a laundromat?

I forgot to congratulate Dorothy Logan who won five thousand on Wintario.

Weather the past week has

On a business trip to Peterborough on Thursday, I saw the Geo. Brown's of Kinmount, Melody Nichols and her mom, Vivian Metcalf of Norwood at the Ponderosa restaurant, and at K-Mart, I saw Jean Tufts of Coby and daughter, Barbara Young of Fenelon Falls. It is very unusual to see so many in a city like Peterborough.

Lelah Heasman is much better and able to discard her cane. Keep up the good work.

If you are about to renew the mortgage on your home, or if you intend to purchase a home, then you should consider the advantages of Mortgage Rate Protection. It provides a safety net for homeowners against extraordinary increases in mortgage interest rates.

In return for the payment for a premium, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) will reimburse you three-quarters of any increase in your monthly mortgage payments, above a deductible, due to higher interest rates at the time you renew your mortgage.

With this protection, you can plan your financial affairs, knowing that your mortgage costs are not going to rise dramatically when it is time to renew.

Why not drop into your County Information and Referral Centre or give us a call at 457-2733 and find out if you are eligible for this program and how it works. Our office can provide booklets describing the Mortgage Rate Protection Program along with the applications. We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton and we are open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer, until you ask the question.

Minden WI meet

By JEANNE SEARS

The November 21 meeting of Minden Women's Institute was at the Library Cultural Centre with Mrs. L. Cox presiding. She read a verse, "Wisdom to Care", to open this meeting with 20 members present and one guest made welcome.

After the usual reports, Mrs. W. More, card convenor, reported having sent 19 cards since the last meeting.

The FWIO questionnaire was filled in and will be sent along with request for some booklets "Women in Rural Life" for members.

Some members may attend the pot luck luncheon at Burnt River, December 3 for their community awareness programme, weather permitting.

Mrs. C. Wilson, delegate, gave a lively and interesting report on the area convention and said how much she enjoyed this and learning so much about WA work.

While the collections for pennies for friendship and the card fund were being taken up, Mrs. Sears read a clipping, "If Women were running the Government".

A vote of thanks went to Mrs. M. Bunker for presenting the group with a framed crest of the Minden WI Branch. Also thanked was Mrs. Kernohan for her work on the recent bus trip.

The meeting adjourned and Mrs. Wilson, auctioneer, sold the gifts turned in on the roll call. A snack was enjoyed by all. Next meeting will be December 19 at United Church Hall at 2 p.m. with all ladies welcome.

namely those containing collagen.

A market is being created in Canada for live aborted babies for research, experimentation and for transplant tissues and organs. This of course, raises the question, who gives permission? Will the mother, who has already decided to dispose of her child, say no to these forms of abuse? Obviously the baby has no choice in this matter.

And so I ask you; are we all sleeping? This should ring a bell for some as it takes us back to society as it was in Nazi Germany where those who were a burden were simply done away with, their bodies being utilized for experimentation, fertilizer, soap, skin for tanning, etc. (read "A Sign For Cain" written by renowned psychologist Fredric Wertham, M.D.). All these industries were designed and organized by scientists and doctors. Abortion on demand fit well into their materialistic view of life as it does in ours. Abortion on demand is practically encouraged in our society by the fact that OHIP pays for it.

Have we also gone so far that human life has such little value and where we use the most helpless of society to our own ends?

Woe to the next generation of our young ones who have been brought up with these attitudes. Their hearts will be calloused and hardened to things pertaining to human value. In this sense God doesn't need to punish society as a whole but rather just hands us over to ourselves to experience the consequences of our own decisions.

Are we all going to sleep through this one? Or are we going to make sure the right decisions are made now?

Of course there are alternatives to 'clinics'. Adoption is one alternative - it's actually hard to adopt a baby now-a-days because there simply aren't enough. Another alternative is instead of sticking the money into Morgentaler's pocket to open homes for unwed mothers.

I would ask all concerned to join me in writing letters to the Honorable Keith Norton, Minister of Health, and the Honorable Roy McMurtry, Attorney General of Ontario. Addresses are as follows: Honorable Roy McMurtry, Attorney General of Ontario, 18 King St. East, Toronto, Ontario, M5C 1C5. Keith Norton, Minister of Health, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 2C4.

Sincerely,
Doris Pothaar,
Highland Grove, Ontario

Question by Catherine Denholm

One of the changes that came out of the women's movement -- a welcome change -- is in the way women are named. The Mrs. John Doe has pretty well disappeared, replaced by Mary Doe or, if Mary wishes, it will be Mary followed by her birth surname. The Mrs. or Miss only indicates whether Marg is married or single which is not necessary any more. The title Mr. never did indicate marital status for men.

Where did that traditional Mrs. John This and Mrs. George That arrangement come from? And why?

The why is not hard to come by. Through the past, pre and post Victorian eras, a woman belonged to her husband in the same legal way that other chattels belonged to him. Naturally she was designated as his property by her name. Only male heirs could inherit property in those days so only the man's name was needed to trace family connections from generation to generation.

Independent young people now wonder why women put up with changing their names so completely for so many centuries. Looking back, it is obvious. A woman's status in the community came from her husband's position and from the home he provided for her. In only rare cases did she have a career as an artist, writer, political activist or witch.

The name changing may seem like a small matter to some and it is something which is sometimes cited as one more indication of the insecurity of the modern family. If a family would have a more solid foundation with parents known as Mr. and Mrs. of the same surname and since women can inherit, own property and are gaining equal status in many ways, then a couple planning to be married could decide whether she became Mrs. George His Name or whether he became Mr. Margaret Her Name. Fair enough?

IN MEMORIAM

MATHEWS: Benjamin Daniel - who died December 6, 1979.

Somewhere you're there with outstretched hand To touch our fingers so we'll understand That though apart, we all will know Your spirit dwells, down here below. Continued

IN MEMORIAM

No one will doubt, how much we miss That warm embrace of your goodnight kiss The thought that morn we'll come to know You're not around to watch you grow.

We miss you more than we can tell Our lives are changed, and all's not well We try to go on but pour our tears For one so young, so few of years.

We hope that in God's design and plan You were all grown up, and quite a man To take you with him where he dwells An angel with honour, with pride that swells.

One day dear Ben, we will follow you Somewhere in that sky that's oh, so blue Prepare for us, a little nest Where together, one day, we all shall rest.

Sadly missed, lovingly remembered, Dad, Mom, Rick, Robbin, Chief and Toni. 32-B-5

LAWRENCE C. MORRISON - In loving memory of our husband and father promoted to glory December 10, 1982.

For us your memory Is the heart of a rose- The older it gets The sweeter it grows. We treasure for always The love from the past You planted so firmly, Forever to last. But, Lord, please forgive us If sometimes we ask why The thorns live on And the roses die.

Fondly remembered by Alma and Nila 32-P-5

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

A new $44 million federal-provincial agreement to stimulate tourism in Ontario was signed November 20 by the Honourable Tom McMillan, Federal Minister of State (Tourism), and the Honourable Reuben Baetz, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation.

The Tourism sub-agreement is being introduced under the Canada-Ontario Economic and Regional Development Agreement (ERDA), which provides a framework for regional economic development. Each government will contribute $22 million under the five-year Canada-Ontario Subsidiary Agreement for Tourism Development.

times, and the traditions kept us going.

The funniest Christmas tree, was the one we had the year we spent the month of December with our very good friends who had just moved to Florida. I'll never forget the pathetic tree the guys brought home. I guess there aren't too many evergreen groves down there. They claimed they had bought the best tree on the lot. They sawed off the trunk until they got it to stand at about an eighty-five degree angle. Then, believe it or not, they took branches off the bottom and drilled holes in the trunk to fit them in where they were needed. That's how many gaps there were in this wondrous yule tree. Naturally, we had to take family photos in front of the thing. Although Florida was not my favourite spot to spend that holiday, we had a great time with our friends whom we knew we might not see again for a very long time.

One of the most meager, yet more traditional and memorable Christmases was the year we decided to spend it up here in the cabin with all three kids. The temperature held around twenty below zero. The cabin was uninsulated, and there was no room for a tree inside. It was a good thing we had lots of body heat. We popped corn, and strung it along with cranberries till we had enough to decorate the pine tree in front of the cabin. It was surprisingly pretty with the snow on the branches. We spent our days sledding and snowshoeing and visiting all the neighbours and sampling various Christmas goodies. We also did a lot of communicating. Even though we appreciated our furnace a lot when we returned home, it seems to have been one of the Christmases we all remember best.

So far, our Christmases in Haliburton have been very pleasant. Our family is growing outwards, adding new faces. And it's nice to see the children pick up some of the traditions we have practiced over the year. My grandson, Jeremy is almost three, and this should be his most exciting Christmas to date. Other years will maybe bring more grandchildren with wondering eyes, that we may enjoy. While they learn about traditions.

The new program for the tourism industry is designed to stimulate private sector investment in major year-round tourism facilities and attractions. Eligible capital projects will have a value exceeding $1 million and the capability of attracting foreign and domestic visitors.

Assistance will be available for planning and feasibility studies, capital construction and improvements, related marketing and visitor services.

The purpose of the tourism program is to generate significant income and employment opportunities for Ontario as well as to contribute to the regional development goals of the federal and provincial governments.

Mr. McMillan said, "The aim of the new program is to boost tourism in Ontario by developing world-class facilities. Ontario now receives about half of all foreign tourist dollars spent in Canada. Through joint assistance, both governments hope to make Ontario more attractive to foreign visitors as well as to Canadians."

"For 1983 tourism expenditures in Ontario are estimated to be $6.67 billion or 4.6 per cent of the gross provincial product," said Mr. Baetz. "Tourism is a vital industry in the province. The sub-agreement will be a major step in undertaking the investments needed to keep pace with the changing travel market".

Sherborne et al council minutes

At a meeting October 29, Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale council considered the following matters:

Road superintendent Dell Page discussed the issue of moving the white shed currently located between the Dorset Community Centre and the municipal garage. This shed was to be moved to the new yard located off County Road #8 (South Kawagama Lake Road). Page told council that he had received two professional quotes for the move. A resolution was passed authorizing Page to proceed.

Council accepted the proposal submitted by Bert French and Son Limited to move the 28' X 18' building (white shed) to the new yard off County Road #8 for $2,000.

A severance application being applied for by Robert W. Close on lands located in Part Lot 9, Concession 4, Livingstone Township was reviewed by council.

Council recommended consent be granted to the land severance application subject to the following conditions: that the Ministry of the Environment give approval on both severed and retained parcels; and that Ministry of Natural Resources be consulted to determine the location of the long-standing "canoe portage" and should this portage be established with Part 11 on the plan, that said Part 11 be deeded to the Corporation of the Township of Sherborne et al.

By-law No. 904 for the purpose of setting out a user fee to be charged to haulers using the Municipal Sludge Disposal Site located in Part Lot 15, Concession II, McClintock Township was passed.

The regular family music party at the centre was held on Saturday evening, to the enjoyment of all concerned. If you like dancing, singing or playing an instrument, or just listening to it all, it's well worth attending on the first Saturday of every month.

HEAR MORE WITH LESS

If one of the reasons why you've put off getting a hearing aid is size, then you must see and try Beltone's new Ode. The Ode is a canal aid. It fits directly into your ear canal. There are no tubes, no wires, virtually nothing showing.
